People in communities have slowly been pushed apart through the years, mostly because people simply aren't taking the time to say a simple "hello". After considering this phenomenon, I decided I was going to 36 the way I was doing things.

My 37 came one morning when I was in the community library. I passed by a girl who 38 her books out of her locker. Thinking like most that someone else would help her pick them up, I continued my way. However, when I had to 39 because I stupidly forgot my book, I noticed she had just finished packing them up by herself. No one had stopped to 40 her.

"OK," I thought to myself, "this is where I should have changed."

My best opportunity came a few days later when I saw a man 41 by himself waiting for the library to open, so I sat down next to him and began a 42. It was difficult to get started, and even when I had to say goodbye, almost every 43 from my new friend had a tone (语气) of doubt in it. And who could blame him?

People aren't used to making an 44 chat with a stranger. But a change, no matter how 45 it is needed, doesn't just happen. It takes people like us to make it possible. I 46 you to take a small step out of your comfort zone and try to make someone's day a little brighter. Together, we can really make society come 47 as a whole.

Section C (12 marks)

Directions: Complete the following passage by filling in each blank with one word that best fits the context.

Does going to college really pay off? Certainly!

I remember taking 48 English class in college on the short story. Our first assignment was to read 49 short stories and then discuss which one was better. After reading both, I wasn't sure. Over the 50 several months, my professor taught me 51 one story was so much better than the other. 52 was rich in metaphor (隐喻) and character development, while the other was humorous 53 too shallow. I couldn't see this at first. Yet, in a few months, my brain got reeducated and 54 could see the difference between good and bad writing and could appreciate literature at a whole new level.

Going to college helps build a strong mind, which leads 55 greater success in one's life.

When first entered, Vanak Restaurant does not look like much of a restaurant, but once the pleasant smells of kabob (烤肉串) hit the senses, you are incapable of calling it anything less.

Owned by a local couple, this Persian restaurant has an inviting, homelike atmosphere that many restaurants lack.

The space is small with only a few dining tables and nearly no decoration, but the environment is truly charming.

Lying in a hardly noticeable street corner, the restaurant still attracts all customers especially those experienced in the delights of Middle Eastern cooking.

A common sight is that of old Persian men sitting in the corner talking loudly about world topics, watching news events on TV, drinking a black tea known as Persian chai, and reading local Persian newspapers all the while trying to finish off their plate piled with food.

The variety of food at the restaurant is limited, but the amount of each dish is fairly large. Most of the meals can serve two people and are under $10, so not only is it affordable but practical as well.

The food especially appeals to health-conscious eaters because each dish is very healthy, made with limited fat and oil and served straight off the grill (烤肉架).

The main dish that the restaurant is popular for is its kabobs, which are different styles of grilled meat.

One delicious and extremely healthy dish is the Joojeh Kabob, which is made of grilled chicken pieces served with either rice or bread. Another great kabob is the Chelo Kabob, a kabob consisting of grilled beef.

Although the restaurant is small, the atmosphere and the food is delicious. It is a place that should not be overlooked.

My father was Chief Engineer of a merchant ship, which was sunk in World War II, The book Night of the U-boats told the story.

Memories

In September, 1940, my mother, sister and I went to Swansea, where my father's ship was getting ready to sail. We brought him a family photograph to be kept with him at all times and keep him safe.

Then I remember my mother lying face down, sobbing. She had heard from a friend that the ship had been sunk by a torpedo (鱼雷).

I can remember the arrival of the telegram (电报), which in those days always brought bad news. My grandmother opened it. It read, "Safe. Love Ted."

My most vivid memory is being woken and brought down to sit on my father's knee, his arm in a bandage.

He was judged unfit to return to sea and took a shore job in Glasgow for the rest of the war. For as long as I can remember, he had a weak heart. Mother said it was caused by the torpedoes. He said it was because of the cigarettes. Whichever, he died suddenly in his early 50s.

Ten years later I read Night of the U-boats and was able to complete the story.

Torpedo

One torpedo struck the ship. Father was in the engine room, where the third engineer was killed. He shut down the engines to slow the ship making it easier for it to be abandoned.

By the time he got on deck (甲板) he was alone. Every lifeboat was gone except one which had stuck fast. When he tried to cut it free, it swung against the ship, injuring his hand and arm. He had no choice but to jump—still with the photograph in his pocket.

Three days later, he and other survivors were safe in Glasgow. All 23 with him signed the back of the photograph.

A Toast

In my room is the book and the photograph. Often, glass in hand, I have wondered how I would have dealt with an explosion, a sinking ship, a jump into a vast ocean and a wait for rescue? Lest (以免) we forget, I have some more whisky and toast the heroes of the war.

61. We can infer that the mother and children went to Swansea _____.

A. to meet a friend

B. to see the father off

66. One of the fossils studied by the researchers is that of _____

Section B (10 marks)

Directions: Read the following passage; answer the questions according to the information given in the passage.

My First Long Run

Two weeks ago, I had a quarrel with my husband. After he had driven off in anger, I realized that I wasn't going to feel any better just sitting there. Feeling abandoned and guilty, I put on my gym shoes to get some fresh air.

Our driveway has a slope (斜坡) that is easier just to jog down if you are lazy, taking advantage of gravity. Instead of stopping at the end of the slope, I decided to see if I could just jog to the end of the street. I had tried a few months ago and failed miserably. Since that first attempt I had been jogging regularly and was significantly fitter, but still very lazy. However this time around I managed to reach the stop sign with ease and I figured I would go a little further.

After about one kilometer, however, I noticed that my upper body was tense. To make the movement easier I had to relax my body, and tried to take deep breaths of fresh air.

I kept giving myself the excuse to stop. No one would be disappointed. No one would even know. But I didn't stop. I wanted to keep going harder, better, faster, stronger. To my great surprise, I ran 4.9 km in 31 minutes. When I got back, I had tears in my eyes. I did something I thought I could never do.

It was the first long run of my life. Since then, I have improved my stride (步幅) and time. After every run I feel fitter, happier and motivated to keep progressing. I love the runner's high. I normally jog because I want to look good. I want to run because it makes me feel good.

Section A

Conversation One

M: Mum, I can't find my car keys. I put them here in the drawer last night.

W: Oh, yes. I had to go and see Aunt Jane this morning. So I took the car. I think I put the keys in my purse.

M: There are not in there, mum. Did you leave them in the car?

W: Of course not, dear. Oh, here they are, in my pocket.

Conversation Two

M: Oops! I'm late getting home, but I don't have enough money for a taxi.

W: Why don't you just take the bus?

M: At this time? The traffic is terrible. I need to be home in less than thirty minutes. My piano teacher will be there soon.

W: Well, I suppose the train is the only thing left for you. It's fast and not too expensive, either.

M: Yes, you're right. I better be off. Bye!

Conversation Three

M: Good evening, Mary. Why didn't you go to the party this afternoon? It was so fun.

W: It's because I was ill.

M: No, but you looked just fine this morning. Tell me why you didn't go.

W: Well, I just didn't have the time. Ok?

M: But you were sleeping the whole afternoon? Come on. Tell me exactly why you didn't go there.

W: Ok, you want to know why? I'm telling you why. I wasn't invited. That's why.

Conversation Four

M: Hi, I like to buy a mobile phone, please.

W: What functions do you want, sir?

M: Just basic functions, please.

W: Ok, then I would recommend the PE310.

M: Err... What if I also want to store some music?

W: How about the RT230? It's also a wonderful music player. If you want to listen to music and take photos, then the FG160 may be a good choice.

M: How much is that?

W: 300 dollars. But if you pay in cash, you can get a ten percent discount.

M: You mean 270 dollars? But that's still very expensive.

W: Then how about the first one? It costs just 100 dollars. Ok, I'll take the first one then.

Conversation Five

W: Hello, Philip. How are you?

M: Fine, thank you. Emily. I'm so glad that you phoned. How is your dress designing going in London?

W: Pretty good. And how was your basketball game in Paris?

M: It's great. We won it and I was named the best player of the game.

W: Congratulations. You're always the best.

M: Thanks. Oh, did I tell you about my trip to London?

W: Yes. When are you coming?

M: I will be arriving at Heathrow Airport at around 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

W: Oh, dear. I can't meet you at the airport then because I have an appointment with my son's headmaster at that time. But never mind. I can ask my brother Bob to pick you up.

M: That's good. Thanks a lot.

Conversation Six

W: How is your studying going?

M: It seems that university is much harder than high school.

W: Yes, I agree. I'm very pleased that I finished my studies and started my job in a supermarket. Ok, now. What do you want to see tonight?

M: I don't know. I quite like comedy and drama, but adventure is always my favorite.

W: Well. There is a new adventure movie on at the Circle Cinema tonight. Will that do?

M: Yeah. Why not?

W: Well, would you mind if we first stopped off at the café on Long Street?

M: No worries.
